PARTICULAR NOTICE.

City subscribers to the Times visiting the country or seaside resorts during the summer can have the daily mailed to them, for a week or longer, by ordering and prepaying for the same at the publication office, or they can have it delivered in any of the seaside towns by ordering from the local agent, and paying in advance.

Joseph Cook, the pulpitistic mountebank of Boston, was promptly and properly sat upon by United States Minister Willis at Honolulu, on July 4, amid loud applause, as was shown by a dispatch in The Times yesterday. Mr. Cook's flimsy cheek was for once insufficient to see him through, and the people of the Hawaiian Republic in congratulatory on the event, Mr. Willis showed commendable tact and firmness in squelching the utterances of a man who has the habit of shooting off his mouth with voluble offensiveness.

The English election on Saturday last resembled the tidal wave which overtook the Democracy in this country the last time the electors had an opportunity to vote. The Unionists took nearly everything in sight, and Irish home rule "look a header," as did also the movement which at one time promised to annihilate the House of Lords.

The New York Evening Telegram says that "Western papers are raising the question whether Mrs. Leese can ever pose as Kansas' favorite son." It is not clear to the Times whether the difficulty for Elizabeth to assume this pose, but there would appear to be nothing to prevent her assuming the Kansas' favorite old girl.

Gen. Ezeta has bought a new uniform that will in all probability strike terror to the hearts of his foes. However, it may not appear as dangerous and deadly in Salvador as it does in peaceful California. Ezeta ought to try it on and see how the thing works down there.

Mr. Allison of Iowa would make a safe President, but his chances for being struck by lightning or blown up in a cyclone would appear to be far better than for getting the nomination by the Republicans.

Earless Eddie. Eight to four. Bloody Canyons only had der pitcher left; Deadgullch only lost four killed and one wounded.

(New York Weekly) Miss Brickrow. Is that lady a new boarder?

Mrs. Brickrow. No, she has only rented a quiet room here, to work in. She is writing a book on "How to Bring Up Children."

Miss Brickrow. Why don't she write at home?

Mrs. Brickrow. Too noisy. She has children.

(Sympathetic Post) Luncher. Hey, waiter.

Waiter. Yes, sah.

Luncher. I ordered three weeks ago, and forgot to wait for them. Take them away.

BY ANTHONY HOPE.
Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda," "The Chronicles of Count Antonio," Etc.

"And it's positively tomorrow, Dick," exclaimed my cousin Flo. And she sighed rather heavily.

"It was a dull man, Flo," I observed. "I should resent that sigh."

"I was only thinking—"

"As it is, I sympathize with it. I was thinking, too."

"What were you thinking of, Dick?"

"I do not see," said I, "any use in running over their names."

"Of course," said Flo, hastily and with a blush, "this is the real one, and all those—"

"They were the real one," I interrupted. "The tenacity of love is even more remarkable than its intensity."

"Tenacity? What does that mean?"

"Tendency forward to both of us—nothing," I cried. "But when I remember Daisy—"

"Daisy what?" asked Flo.

"When, I say, I remember Daisy and Amy and Philippa and Mrs.—no, no, hang it! I do not remember Mrs.—"

"I'm glad of that, anyhow," said Flo. "I shan't tell you mine, Dick."

"You're doing to do it," I pronounced, after a minute's close examination.

"Mamma says," remarked Flo, "that when one is really in love one forgets everything—everything, you know, Dick—that happened before."

"I'm so glad that nothing is inexorably true," said I, with a retrospective smile.

"And when one is actually married—"

"I asked Philippa Worsley about that," said I, nodding.

"Or as she said, 'Dick?'"

"She said that she remembered them with a mixture of shame and amusement," said I, inhaling a mouthful of smoke from my cigarette.

"I wonder," said Flo with a skeptical smile.

"Which is miles better than not remembering them at all. Heaven's law, I said this with some warmth."

"Capt. Worsley told me," Flo observed, "that he never married, and that they were sad but sweet memories."

"If he meant it," said I, "I should respect him. But, probably you extorted it from him."

"Well, you didn't get anything so nice out of Philippa," rejoined Flo with a slight shrug of her shoulders.

"Yes, I did. She told me that I was just suited to you," and I caressed Flo's hand in the most affectionate manner.

"How stupid I am," said I, "Dick! Of course she meant that to be horrid."

"Then she should express herself more lucidly."

"New Capt. Worsley hinted—oh, quite delicately, you know—that I was thrown away on you, Dick."

"He's never forgiven me," said I, "did he not say so?"

"He knows that Philippa—"

"Nonsense, Dick. I know why he said it, and Flo smiled with a parade of her teeth. But I was not to be involved in asking any question of the subject. I rose and warned myself at the first opportunity."

"I'm long winter evenings, Flo, when you have been little trying, it will be very soothing to sit and think furiously how different it would have been with me."

"I shall be in the other corner," interrupted Flo, sturdily.

"Yes, yes," I cried, "pretending to be busy with your needle and drop, I'm a little tired, while you wonder—"

"Whether he," said Flo, "would have behaved as you do?"

"Every word you spoke," I continued, "every sweet walk, every charming talk we had with them, will come back to us, and we shall feel how intolerable—"

"Is the actual life we are leading, compared to—"

"What we might have led!" I cried, and I lit my cigarette into the fire.

"I sat down, facing the grate, and continued, 'Decidedly, the sponge theory is an obnoxious one. For look again at the other side! If you chance ever to—'"

"I sat down, facing the grate, and continued, 'Decidedly, the sponge theory is an obnoxious one. For look again at the other side! If you chance ever to—'"

said Flo. "I know all your faults, Dick. I just like you, you see, and that's the best basis, isn't it?"

At this moment I felt something passing over my head and just touching my hair very lightly. I took no notice.

"It prevents all soreness—all sense of having been deceived," I observed.

"And it's really just as pleasant as being—silly," remarked Flo, in a most sensible tone.

"Just," said I, with much apparent conviction.

"It was so natural we should marry one another, from knowing each other so long, and being cousins, and so so, that we needed no—"

"Needn't what?" I asked in curiosity.

"Why—why, needn't pretend that it's more than I am," said Flo, and again I felt that little something on my hair.

"I sat still."

"Yes; it's much the best," said Flo again. "Most permanent, you know, Dick."

"And much the most reasonable," I added.

Another pause followed. Then I perceived something on one side of the white things round my neck.

"Is this reasonable?" I protested.

"Dick" was said quite close to my ear—and, fortunately so, for the tone was very low.

"Well," said I, helplessly regarding first one and then the other of the white things round my neck.

"Wouldn't you like, just by way of a change," asked the voice at my ear,

"It," said Flo, radiant, triumphant, irresistible.

"Then," said I, "I'll bid you good-night."

"Goodnight, Dick."

"Oh—er—we meet tomorrow?"

"Yes," nodded Flo with a wonderful blush.

"A demand, then?"

"A demand," nodded Flo.

"On the stairs I chance to meet the colonel," the colonel smirked, smiled, winked, jerked his thumb toward the room I had left, chuckled, dug me in the ribs.

"You are deplorably right," said I, "but you might have put it less offensively."

"Well," observed the colonel, "it's uncommonly July, but, boy, but you can't expect it to last, don't you know?"

"I looked at the colonel. He is much my senior and was about to be my step-father-in-law. Still I said to the colonel:

"Go to the devil, Goodnight."

"Which shows that man is a very queer sort of creature," I observed.

"And I walked home thinking of things dead and gone, and of things that (as had been agreed) were to live forever. And the two social graces were—well, were they?—just alike."

GRAND CELEBRATION.

THE FALL OF THE BASTILE COMMEMORATED.

Sycamore Grove the Scene of an Enthusiastically Patriotic Celebration of the Great National Holiday of La Belle France.

Once more the boom of a cannon filled the air, for July 14th, the day when the Bastille had fallen, and France was free. The people gathered at the Terminal Station from every side; Vice-consul Loeb and the officers of the day drove up, with the French Legion as a guard of honor, then, with a shout of delight, the train rushing away toward Sycamore Grove, loaded to the steps with happy humanity.

When the destination was reached, the people poured forth into the picnic grounds with the soldiers at their head. La Legion presented a fine appearance in its full martial equipment. There is a State law forbidding military companies other than the National Guard to parade with guns, but Gov. Budd graciously accorded permission for the Legion to carry them on this occasion, testifying his friendship for the flourishing and law-abiding French population of California.

Admission to the grounds was free to all respectable persons, and lunch was served without charge for subscribers to meet the expenses of the affair had been very liberal. After lunch the people amused themselves informally for a couple of hours. Some wandered through the grounds, pausing to laugh and talk in the shade of the big sycamores. Some played bowls, others tried to knock down a row of wooden dolls.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The preachers are beginning to go away for their summer vacation. Satan will remain at the old stand and continue to attend to business.

That was a feast of practical information at the Farmers' Institute in Santa Ana which closed Saturday evening.
Such meetings cannot be of too
frequent occurrence.

Riverside's orange shipments for this season are gradually creeping up to the 3000 carload mark. The last statement reported 2885 carloads, with some weeks'
shipments yet to go.

At Spokane on the Fourth one of the prizes for the ladies' fifty-yard race was a silver brick. If free and unlimited coinage of silver should become a law
the Spokanites would be able to give a whole brickyard as a prize, so little value would silver have.

It all arose over the dotting of an "i."
A Superior Court judge in San Diego county claims to have written an order for twenty-five grand jurors. Yet he admits that he may have neglected to dot the "i," and consequently the word
"five" may have looked like "four." At any rate, the clerk copied the order as twenty-four and an illegal grand jury was allowed to sit. The result is, San Diego taxpayers will be put to large extra expense. They ought to buy a typewriter for the careless judge. It might be a good investment in the long run.

The Times' correspondent at Santa Ana writes that celery planting has begun out in the famous peat lands near Westminster. This is practically a new industry in California, the first experiments in its production for profit being made in Orange county only about four years ago. The success of the experiment is best expressed in the fact that the peat land locality over $50,000. The coming year it is estimated the crop will be valued at about $100,000. The quality of the product is excellent and therefore commands fancy prices in the East during the winter months.

Woodpeckers in the mountains of Southern California do cabinet work that cannot be equalled by the most skilled artisan. The crafty birds gather acorns, drill holes in the trunks of pine trees, into which they fit the nuts so closely and snugly that squirrels are unable to pull them out. Hundreds of these nuts are implanted in a single tree trunk. The question has arisen as to how the birds get the acorns out, if a squirrel cannot remove one of the im-plantations. It is discovered that, after being implanted, a worm appears in the acorn and it is for the purpose of getting this worm later on that the crafty bird stores away acorns in this unique manner.

The Soldiers' Home correspondent
presents some interesting statistics concerning that institution elsewhere this morning. The period covered is that of the fiscal year ending June 30 past. It shows an increasing membership,
which will be still further augmented
during the year to come, when building of the additional barracks will make it possible to receive more of the worthy applicants for whom no room is afforded in the present quarters. The report is also interesting as showing that the offenses committed by the members of the home, while largely of the class of drunk and disorderly, are committed exclusively by a very small percentage of the members, the vast majority of whom are sober and thoroughly law-abiding.

A stranger in the city goes forth in search of a friend's home. He knows the address and has a faint idea of the locality. He sallies forth expecting to find street signs at every turn to guide him on his way. But just when he most needs help he finds that some foolishness has been done. The signs nearly painted out the name of the street. At the next corner he finds only a splintered post, mite witness of a runaway truck. At the next turning there is no evidence that there ever has been a street sign within the memory of man. Then the visitor heaves curses
upon the City of the Angels and writes to the papers back home that it is a backwoods settlement surrounded by a howling wilderness. Let's have an inspection of sign-posts, Mr. Street Superintendent.

The wheelmen of Riverside deserve
the greatest praise for the unremitting energy they are constantly displaying.
They have a well-organized club, some of the best men on wheels in the state,
and now they propose to have one of the best tracks in the state. They have a scheme on foot to get the City Trustees to accord them the right of conducting a bicycle track on Magnolia avenue. This avenue is not only one of the finest in California, but it will be,
with a little more age to the trees, one of the finest in the United States, if not in the world. It is seven miles in length and the width is so great that a bicycle track could be made on one or both sides of it without detracting from its splendid proportions. If the City Trustees of Riverside grant the wheel-men's request it will be beneficial all round, for it will help to make the avenue more popular as a public promenade.

(Berkeley Gazette) Great stress is being laid upon the fact that Southern California has sustained by the burning of the Arrowhead Hot Springs. There will be a great difference of opinion in regard to this matter. These springs, while they are noted for their medicinal properties, have never been popular owing to the ownership and the management. Eastern capitalists have for years been trying to purchase the property, but the owners asked such fabulous prices that the deal could never be made. The chances are that a new hotel is being instead of thirty-five guests at this time of year, there will be several hundred. The fire was a good omen to that effect.

THE DAY NURSERY.

SUCCESS AND RAPID GROWTH OF THE INSTITUTION.

Nearly Three Hundred Little Ones
Cared for Through the Kindly Efforts of the King's Daughters—
A Praiseworthy Institution.

The Day Nursery for the care of little children during the working hours
of the day, established a few months ago by the Day Nursery Circle of King's Daughters, is growing rapidly
and exceeding the hopes of the most enthusiastic of its founders with the success of the plan.

The little nursery, which occupies an upper room in the Bethel Church, down on the corner of Vignes and Las ar streets, is one of the pleasantest of places to visit, and many people enjoy an hour in the room so brim full of merry noise that it requires all the efforts of the gentle little matron to keep the fun within bounds. The children amuse themselves with the aid of member of the nursery, as to the most charming games and the prettiest books from Mrs. Turnbull, and a jolly little colony it is, with very few jars
and clashes to mar the general good understanding.

Sometimes thoughtless little lips say words that are bad for the ears of other children, and then they have to be washed with soap-and-water. If they forget, and use the forbidden word
again, a dash of pepper on the small tongue burns just enough to serve as a reminder. When juvenile flatulencies are indulged in, the little offender has his hands and feet tied until he can resist the temptation to use them more gently; and a mother who happens to be in a quarrel must sit by himself and not speak to the others unless he can do so pleasantly. By these mild reminders that good behavior is the best policy,
the atmosphere of the little world is kept very sunny, and the little ones
learn courtesy and self-control with the most pleasant of results. Small objections are made, and most heartbreaking punishment which is inflicted upon a small sinner, is to have a nightgown put on over his clothes. This crowning indignity has to be inflicted as the mere sight of the child's humiliation is generally sufficient to produce an instant resolution
to reform.

The children are all devoted to Mrs.
Turnbull, and show their affection in many funny little ways. Small objections of faded, short-stemmed flowers are brought, and bits of cake and bread-and-butter, and happy is the child who succeeds in obtaining an old advertising card to offer as a gift to the beloved matron.

During the past month two hundred and eighty children have been cared
for, thirty-five of them without charge,
while their mothers were sick or searching for work.

Donations have been liberal, and the cordial thanks of the matron are tendered to the merchants, druggists, etc.,
who have sent in necessary supplies to the little home, as well as to many ladies who have had kindly thought for the little ones less fortunate than their own. Many necessities are still lacking broken, and the never-regarded con-
sistencies of such as milk, bread,
meat, potatoes, butter, rice, etc. More bibs for protecting the small dresses at mealtime are needed, and some large dinner-plates, or soup-plates, would be of service.

Taken altogether, the little nursery
has made wonderful progress during its short life, and bid fair soon to demand
larger quarters and a more definite base
of supplies.

FELL FROM A WINDOW.

John Borcher Met Death in a Singular Manner.

About 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning
John Borcher fell out of a second story window at No. 328 Center street, and received an injury from which he died about ten hours later. His neck was broken, and he never regained consciousness after the accident happened.
It is not altogether clear how he came to receive his fall, but the other inmates of the house and the neighbors think he was drunk. He was merely a roomer at the house, and came home about 1 o'clock, proceeding
at once to his apartments. Before undressing he went to bed he apparently lost his balance while leaning out of the open window for some purpose, and fell to the ground a distance of about fifteen feet.

He fell squarely on his head, the sand being indented about two inches
where he struck. No one heard him fall, but at about 3:15 a.m. neighbors
heard him groan, and went to the rescue. Dr. Carl Kurtz was called to render what assistance he could, but medical skill could not save the man's life.
He died shortly before noon. The body was removed to Kregelo & Breese's,
where an inquest will be held today.
Borcher was a laborer about 40
years of age, married, but not living with his wife. The couple had been separated several months. Mr. Borcher having gone to San Bernardino to live. She was in the city yesterday, however, and she and her husband are said to have been together till about midnight. Borcher, however, went home alone about 1 o'clock.

An Aged Citizen Hurt.

As Meyer Rothschild, an aged fruit
merchant, was in the act of boarding a cable car at First and Alameda streets
yesterday afternoon the car started with a jerk, throwing the old man violently to the ground. His head was badly bruised where it came in contact with the cobble stones. The old man received attention at the Receiving Hospital, after which he proceeded to his home on East First street.

THE ODD FELLOWS.

Good Work Accomplished in the Past Six Months.

The Odd Fellows' Relief Committee
of Los Angeles has just issued its semi-annual report. All the lodges in the city except East Side Lodge are represented on the committee, each lodge
being represented by its noble grand
and vice-grand.

It is the duty of the committee to care for the sick Odd Fellows from all parts of the world who may be sojourning
in this city, to bury the dead, and to care for the widows and orphans.
The committee has taken care of 112
sick brothers during the past six months, and has buried twelve. It has expended $4515.30 for the relief of the sick. The committee has had the care of more sick brothers than have all the local lodges together. The following lodges are represented in the committee: Los Angeles Lodge, No. 35; Golden Rule Lodge, No. 160; Orpheus Lodge, No.
237; Good Will Lodge, No. 323; Semi-Tropic Lodge, No. 371; America Lodge,
No. 385. The president of the committee is J. J. Muratt; secretary, Phil
Royce; treasurer, Edward Hutchinson.

Railroad Notes.

Today the Southern Pacific will put a new time-card in effect. There will be but two changes in trains running on the branches. The early fast train from Santa Monica will leave that point at 7:30 a.m. instead of 7:35, reaching Los Angeles at 7:50 instead of 8 o'clock. This change has been made on account of some patrons wishing to be able to reach their offices at 8 o'clock. The Southern Pacific will now have two fast
morning trains from Santa Monica reaching Los Angeles at 7:50 and 8:50 o'clock, respectively, which will be a great accommodation to business men wishing to live at the beach during the hot weather.

The principal changes will be on the main line. The overland train from New Orleans, heretofore arriving at 7
p.m., will reach Los Angeles at 1 p.m.
Passengers arriving at 1 p.m. can make close connections with the local trains leaving for all points between 1
and 2 o'clock. The fast "El" heretofore leaving at 2:45 p.m. will leave at 2:15, reaching Redlands at 4:35. It will leave Redlands at 4:40, and reach the Arcade Depot at 5:55.
The Terminal Company's trains did
an exceptionally good seashore business yesterday. Terminal Island seems to be gaining in favor. The railroad company now runs the pavilion on the island.

The Sunday time-card of the Southern California road shows trains running almost every hour between Los Angeles and Redondo and Santa Monica.
Now the Los Angeles ticket brokers
propose to organize to maintain rates.
The seashore trains all did a heavy
business yesterday.

(Marysville Appeal) The political pull is having a hard time of it in San Francisco. The police force is about to be increased by seventy-five men and over two thousand applications for appointments have been made. Even Chief Crowley is astonished and has declared that he never dreamed that so many men were ambitious to join the force. One hundred dollars a month with reasonable assurance of a life appointment is a big thing in these days
of low wages and scant work.

Notice of Foreclosure Sale.

Sheriff's Sale No. 23,394.
STEPHEN M. WHITE, PLAINTIFF, VS.
Adolph Lopez, defendant. Order of sale and decree of foreclosure of sale.
The undersigned, Sheriff of the County of Los Angeles, do hereby give notice that by virtue of a decree of foreclosure of sale, issued out of the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, of the State of California, on the 24th day of June, A.D. 1895, in the above entitled action, wherein Stephen M. White, the above named plaintiff, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against Adolph Lopez, defendant, on the 24th day of May,
A.D. 1895, for the sum of three hundred and eighty-six and 15/100 dollars, gold coin of the United States, said decree was, on the 24th
day of May, A.D. 1895, recorded in judgment book 55 of said court, at page 51. I am commanded to sell all those certain lots, pieces
or parcels of land situated, lying and being in the county of Los Angeles, State of California, and bounded and described as follows:
Lots No. four hundred and sixty-three (463), four hundred and sixty-four (464), four hundred and sixty-five (465), and four hundred and sixty-six (466), of Corner subdivision of the Johannes tract, as per map
of the same recorded in book 18, page 58, miscellaneous records of Los Angeles county, California, to which map and record thereof
reference is had for a further and more particular description.
Public notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 30th day of July, A.D. 1895, at 12 o'clock m. of that day, in front of the Courtroom door of the county of Los Angeles,
Broadway entrance, I will, in obedience to said
order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, sell the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy
said judgment, with interest and costs, etc.,
to the highest and best bidder, for cash gold coin.
Dated this 6th day of July, 1895.

Remnants.

The first time since last fall that we have advertised remnants. This lot of remnants will go at half price. All wool dress goods remnants. Remnants of dress goods only, from one to eight yards, will be included. All marked in plain figures. All goes at one-half the marked price. You will find them on the north aisle, to the right as you enter the store. This season we have had the largest dress-goods trade for three years. These remnants are nearly all this season's purchase. We have but two remnant sales of dress goods each year. One at the end of the fall selling and one at the end of the spring selling. Quite a number of extra fine goods for separate skirts. Plenty of the best lengths are suitable for children, and is one of the best bargains
yet offered for school suits. Remnants half price.

Wrappers

Have been selling from $1.50 to $3. Now the choice goes out for $1. Not exchanged; not taken back. Only a few left, and that few are very desirable.

Cloaks,

That have been selling up to $20, now the choice of nearly one hundred garments $5. Cloaks that have been selling up to $10, now the choice for $1.50. There is new blood in the cloak department.

Shirt Waists.

The sale on these goods is now drawing to a close; 25c for Shirt Waists that have been selling up to $1; 50c for Shirt Waists that have been selling up to $1.50; slightly mussed or soiled. Some are the odd lots of the season. All better than the price would indicate. Silk Waists down from $7.50 to $5.

Separate Skirts.

All wool suits and duck suits; separate skirts for $5.00 and $7.50, all wool. All wool suits, $7.50 to $20.00. Choice things for $10.00; Duck Suits in new things for $2 to $5.
No wonder the trade has shown such wonderful growth.

Sailor Hats.

50c for the choice; selling them by the hundreds; all over the city they are selling the same class of Sailors for $1.00 and $1.25, some as high as $2. Here one uniform price of 50c. Plain white, plain black, black brims, navy brims, brown brims with white bell shape crowns, and the pick goes for 50c. There is no hat that approaches these for value and there is nothing newer in shape.

Cotton Wash Goods.

Still a fine assortment of the best sellers. Duck Suits are in the lead, 10c to 15c a yard. Percales and Cambrics
in a complete assortment. Odd lots in Wash Dress Goods at big reductions to close.

Newberry's.

Distilled Water.

The highest medical authorities, both in Europe and Amer-

AT LONG BEACH.

THE ANNUAL ASSEMBLY WILL OPEN UP AUSPICIOUSLY.

The hosts are gathering to enjoy the intellectual feast in prospect—preparations for a meeting exceeding last year's.

LONG BEACH, July 14, 1936.—(Special Correspondent.) The Chautauqua hosts are gathering to enjoy the intellectual feast in prospect—preparations for a meeting exceeding last year's.

From a study of the island home of the English, and the elements which made up the great English nation, the students have traced the growth and development to the present time. They have traced the influence of Norman strife and conquest, and have seen the fusion of races resulting in a stalwart people from whom could come such men as our Pilgrim Fathers.

Mr. Eddy, president of the County National Bank, suggested that a petition be submitted to the board of directors of the bank to postpone the matter of submitting the question of issuing bonds to the people, until the next year or year could be made, in accordance with the plans of the Council.

From Chaucer to Tennyson, as its name indicates, was the work on English literature. The study of the English literature in the University, is its author, which is a guarantee of its merit. Allow me to name a few of the authors whose work is to show the scope of the work.

The last book to be completed was "Walks and Talks in the Geological Field," by Alexander H. H. Saunders, professor of geology and paleontology in the University of Michigan.

THE PROGRAMME FOR TODAY. The assembly of '95 will open at 7:30 p.m. Monday. The president, S. H. Weller, D.D., will deliver an introductory address following the opening prayer.

3:00 p.m.—Lecture, Prof. A. J. Cook, subject, "Physiology with Manikin." 4:00 p.m.—Lecture, Prof. A. J. Cook, subject, "Physiology with Manikin."

The Street-paving Question Discussed in the Channel City.

SANTA BARBARA, July 14.—(Regular Correspondent.) The Board of Trade met Friday night for the purpose of considering the question of the proposed issue of bonds for the paving of the streets with bituminous rock.

Mr. Eddy, president of the County National Bank, suggested that a petition be submitted to the board of directors of the bank to postpone the matter of submitting the question of issuing bonds to the people, until the next year or year could be made, in accordance with the plans of the Council.

POMONA.

POMONA, July 14.—(Regular Correspondent.) Old Sol has been giving his vacation in better style for the past twelve hours and the result is that the mercury has climbed up several degrees.

The Chino beet-sugar factory is now in full running order, and it is reported from that busy place that the beets so far have shown an average of fully 17 per cent pure sugar.

The Junior Christian Endeavorers hold their first grand rally this evening at the Chino Christian church in that city. They will present an interesting little programme of fourteen numbers.

A WOMAN HORSE-THIEF.

MRS. SCOTT OF NEW MEXICO AND HER OUTLAW BAND.

For Four Years She Was a Successful Bandit Chief, but is Now Housewife and Artist—A Remarkable Career—Enjoyed Her Former Life.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.) As a means of making her way in the world horse-stealing appears to be growing in favor with the new woman and those of her sex who are not new, but are merely wicked.

But no matter with how much daring and success the woman horse-thief may pursue her vocation, the "eternal feminine" will sometimes assert itself, as it did in the case of that curly-haired one.

Of all the women whom I met in the course of my travels, none was more interesting than the woman whom I met in the course of my travels.

along and nobody ever says a word about it. Besides, I could make money for my children, and I could in any other way that I had ever tried, and I had become so discouraged with the other ways that when I found one by which I could make a comfortable living for them I was so relieved that I really didn't care whether it was right or not.

"I liked the boys, too. They were good fellows, every one of them, and as brave as they could be, and it was an outrage that they have been put in the penitentiary. They are better men today than half the other Americans in the Territory. They took my advice about everything we did, and they all thought I had good judgment about things, and we all liked one another and got on so well together. Yes, I must say that I really enjoyed the life very much. It was my happiest four years that I ever spent."

From which confession it will appear that Mrs. Helen Scott is as hopeless a case as the one of the degenerate, new womanhood, female criminality and the eternal feminine as even Dr. Max Nordau or Prof. Lombroso himself need wish to investigate.

A Joke That Cost a Million.

(Cincinnati Tribune.) Samuel P. Schuckers died recently at Wooster, Ohio, a brother of W. T. Schuckers, private secretary of Salmon P. Chase, and brother-in-law of John H. Oberly, ex-Chief Justice of Ohio.

He was a brother of W. T. Schuckers, private secretary of Salmon P. Chase, and brother-in-law of John H. Oberly, ex-Chief Justice of Ohio.

Mr. Schuckers' spruce appearance, and being in company with the great criminal lawyer had them believe he represented some secret syndicate which was trying to gain possession of the valuable railroad property.

Fifty Chickens Versus One Cow.

(Rural Press.) An interesting discussion has been going on in Eastern journals regarding the relative profit to be derived from a given number of chickens and one cow.

One farmer, according to the Pittsburgh Dispatch, made a test with fifty chickens and one cow, and gives the results as follows: Value of milk from one cow, $144.10; income from fifty hens, mostly for eggs sold, $150.81.

Right here is where the small, well-watered, and well-tended land-bird becomes so potent a factor in the up-building of a higher and better civilization and citizenship.

While a religious meeting was in progress on Alameda street last night, a rioter created a disturbance. Officer Blackburn undertook to arrest F. L. B. de Surville for being one of the disturbers.

"Shave your Soap"—so the soap makers say, especially if you're washing delicate things. Now, in the name of common sense, what's the use? When you can get Pearline, in powder form for this very reason, why do you want to work over soap, which, if it's good for anything, gets very hard and difficult to cut.

Besides, Pearline is vastly better than any powdered soap could be. It has all the good properties of any soap—and many more, too. There's something in it that does the work easily, but without harm—much more easily than any other way yet known.

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" the same as Pearline. FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if you're grocer send your imitation, be honest—send it back.

PASADENA.

INCIDENTS OF A QUIET SUNDAY BRIEFLY TOLD.

The Roamers' Consuming Thirst—Masons Enjoy a Feast Intended for the Old Fellows—A New Freight Line—Church and Personal Notes.

PASADENA, July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) The city today seems deserted. Most of the churches are closed while the pastors are enjoying their vacations and the lay members have hied themselves away to mountain and seashore. There is not the usual number of strangers from Los Angeles passing through town en route to Baldwin's and the San Gabriel. The ice cream and soda water signs display their alluring invitations as usual, but the young man and his "summer girl" are not in evidence. Quiet reigns supreme, and the few people on the streets either stroll aimlessly along on the shady side or lounge in the stores. A slight ripple of excitement was created this afternoon by the advent of the Roamers' Road Club of Los Angeles, who, to the number of four, were under the leadership of their captain, A. S. Bayre, stopped for refreshment on their way back to Los Angeles. Cycling is evidently provocative of a strong "thirst" as well as an appetite for more substantial food. The boys state that liquid refreshments were in order all along the route, but they consisted of nothing stronger than lemonade and "pop," they were compelled to make up in quantity what they lost in strength.

PASADENA BREVITIES.
At the installation of officers Friday evening of the I.O.O.F., several brothers from Monrovia and other neighboring points were present, as were also Past Grand Masters Frank and Stockton from Los Angeles. Deputy Grand Master for this district, W. R. Beardslee of Monrovia, performed the ceremonies. After the installation, a banquet was given by the I.O.O.F. at the home of the caterer, it was served to the Masons in their hall, for they were in session at the same time, and the members of the I.O.O.F. were seated at the tables, which were "left" as it were. The following were the officers installed: George F. Schmidt, M. G.; Charles F. Hersey, V. G.; J. C. Collier, S. W.; P. D. Kiley, P. S. W. Hawley, Treasurer; C. M. E. Wood, L. G.; W. A. Jones, O. G.; J. W. Zellmer, R. S.; N. G. B. H. Storer, S. S.; G. A. Albert, N. D.; R. S. S. S. P. Swearingen, Chaplain.

At a meeting of the board of regents of the University of California, recently held, Fred Seaton, a Pasadena boy, was appointed to the position of students' observatory assistant, at a salary of $35 monthly. Mr. Seaton held this position last year, and although it is one where the pecuniary reward is comparatively small, he is enabled to secure invaluable experience in astronomy.

Dr. A. F. Schirman of Los Angeles, together with his wife and daughter, were in town today enjoying the beauties of our charming city. There is hardly a more delightful way of spending an afternoon than in driving about lovely Pasadena, and it is quite a common occurrence to see the faces of prominent Angelenos upon our streets. Several carloads of freight have been delivered over the Southern Pacific road in the last week for the accommodation of shippers, especially dealers in lumber and ice. The road is not yet formally opened for business, however, though there is promise that it soon will be.

Dr. C. C. Dudley, who has been in Pasadena several days, will leave for Los Angeles today evening for a trip to San Francisco and the North. He will return to Pasadena next week for a brief stay, before returning to his home in Los Angeles.

R. Hutchins has been confined to the house for the last two days with a severe attack of this old complaint, grippe. He is now feeling better, and is expected to be able to attend to business within the next day or two.

Dr. W. H. Frittle leaves for Catalina today, but will remain in town until the first of September, returning occasionally to look after his interests here.

D. A. Shively, who has been a member of the firm of Bassett & Shively, has sold out his interest to Mr. Bassett and will return in August to his old home in Iowa.

W. H. Hill and family will remain at Long Beach during July and August. Mr. Hill returning once a week to Pasadena to look after business matters.

Mrs. O. M. Partridge and daughter will leave Pasadena on Monday for Long Beach, where they will spend the summer.

John Butler has moved into Mrs. Butler's pretty cottage on South Pasadena avenue.

CHURCH NOTES.

The Christian Church will inaugurate a series of midsummer Sunday evening sermons, outlining the first principles of Christ's gospel. The discourse this evening will be by Rev. James Blackledge of Berkeley, Cal., will preach in the Free Methodist Episcopal Church this evening at 7:30 p.m.

The Young Men's Christian Association's gospel meeting in the Knights of Pythias hall this afternoon was a very interesting service. The presence of an orchestra made the musical features very interesting to the numerous young men present.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

The Foresters—Orange Shipments—Wheelmen's Doings—Brevities.

RIVERSIDE, July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) The recently elected officers and the appointive staff of Court Citrus, A. O. F. of A. No. 8257, were installed Friday evening by Deputy Grand Chief Ranger L. M. Condit. The quarterly reports read show the court to be in a prosperous condition and gradually increasing in membership. There is nearly $1000 in the local treasury. The new officers are: G. A. Gilka, C. R.; Dr. M. Mayben, S. C. R.; J. W. Marsh, secretary; J. H. Holmes, S. B. H. J. Bedwell, J. W. Fred Copley, S. B. and M. C. Rich, J. B.

The orange shipments for the week ending July 14 were 21,345 boxes, or seventy-four carloads, making a total for the season of 753,000 boxes, or 3635 carloads. It is expected that this average of twenty carloads per day will continue for a couple of weeks yet.

J. D. Twoquod, an old and respected citizen of Riverside, died at his home on the corner of Orange-Grove avenue and Fourteenth street yesterday morning. He has been taken to the Riverside hospital.

The twenty-mile bicycle race which was to have taken place at the New North of Perris and Peach of South Riverside, has been declared off. Peach preferred to race for a prize and hesitated about accepting money consideration race, and Newert, thinking the race off, had made his arrangements for a trip east when Peach yesterday concluded to accept the proposition.

Newert returns by September 9 an effort will be made to have them race then; if not, Perris says they will furnish an effort to try conclusions with Peach.

The Riverside Wheelmen are discussing the feasibility of constructing a bicycle track the full length of Magnolia avenue, seven miles. The City Trustees concurring. If this is done Riverside wheelmen will have the finest track in the State. This is a very wide avenue, and enough room could be well spared for such a track and not interfere with other uses of the road.

A. P. Woolbert, who came to Riverside from Chicago in the spring, has purchased the twenty-acre ranch which was formerly owned by Mr. Magnolia avenue. He is delighted with Riverside, and says a number of his Chicago friends will be here and make purchases before long.

City Clerk W. W. Phelps, County Recorder E. H. Gruwell and C. A. Ables went to San Jacinto yesterday (Saturday) where they will be in the office of officers of San Jacinto Old Fellows.

The new board of school trustees at Moreno have elected Dr. H. A. Atwood clerk.

Members of the West Riverside Sunday-school made a gruesome find while the school was enjoying a picnic yesterday above the bridge in the river bottom. It was a human skull and foot. The skull had a hole in it, as if made with a knife.

At a meeting of the Fraternal Aid Association at Moreno, the following officers were elected: Mrs. J. T. Cook, past president; M. O'Brien, president; Mrs. J. P. Lauro, clerk; S. S. Hotchkiss, secretary; Joe Thompson, treasurer; George Hahn, guide; Miss K. Cook, observer; J. F. Lauro, secretary; J. P. Lauro, secretary. The association has added many new members lately.

REDONDO. July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) Another large crowd of visitors enjoyed themselves here today, quite keeping up the good record that Redondo has made for herself this season. The many new inducements offered in addition to the natural attractiveness of this delightful resort have proved a decided success.

The ballroom again today drew a large number of people, and was more than usually successful, as the day was perfect for it.

Musicality the day was all that could be wished for, the excellent Ninth Regiment Band gave a delightful promenade concert from the band stand on the beach, and the infallible Levy entertained a large audience at the hotel porch, accompanied by the Redondo Beach Marine Band.

About the best number yet of Sunday anglers were in evidence about the wharf all day, and fishing was all that could be desired, the large mackerel being plentiful, creating much sport and excitement.

F. K. Rule, accompanied by a party of visiting friends, formed a jolly fishing party on the beach yesterday, the day being spent in cruising about the bay trolling for the big fish, and a run was made at noon into Portuguese Bend for lunch.

The day's sport was voted excellent and the perfect day could be by all, even by the hardy sailor, who spent the entire day below wharfing, and the day is a member of the Catalina Yacht Club.

Quite a number of prominent society people of Los Angeles came down last night at the Redondo Saturday evening enjoyable as one as usual in that perfect ballroom.

Some of the late arrivals at the Redondo are: Miss Jane Doran and the Sargent, Los Angeles; Mrs. O. F. Kuenker, Kingman, Ariz.; H. A. Simpson, New York; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Pasadena; Mrs. J. E. Plater, Mrs. J. K. Duncan, Los Angeles; Miss Willis, Dr. W. L. Lemore, Los Angeles; W. B. Gwan, Chicago; Charles H. Hargis, Sierra Madre; Mr. and Mrs. A. Busch, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Alson, San Francisco; Miss Childs, Los Angeles; John W. Dwight, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery of Los Angeles are spending a few days at the cottage of W. B. Hicks on Nob Hill.

The steamer Corona arrived from San Diego this morning with eleven passengers and departed for San Francisco this evening with twenty-five tons of freight.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.
Mayne Escaped Through Carelessness of Court Officials.

SAN DIEGO, July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) The failure of the County Court officials to properly impound a grand jury, and the probable escape of the indicted found against Clinton E. Mayne for attempting to bribe Councilmen, and ex-Tax Collector Weisner for shortage of accounts, in consequence of which, causes increased and profound indignation among the people, who fully realize the significance of their failure by the county officers to do their duty. This failure may mean that the indicted man will escape an imperial trial which the grand jury intended they should have. Mayne, who is indicted for attempting to bribe Common Councilmen, is clearly the most dangerous man in the county, and is a menace to the people who the grand jury does not also indict the people who employed Mayne to try and buy votes.

Lavender James B. Wadham will marry Miss Nellie Lockwood on August 6, and go to Alaska on a wedding trip.

Mrs. W. W. Stewart seeks to foreclose on W. W. Stewart's city residence in order to secure the payment of alimony granted her in divorce proceedings.

The fourteen-year-old daughter of Jean Larque refuses to return to her parents. The matter is being tried before Judge Puterbaugh, who allows the girl to do as she pleases. The mother prefers to make her home with Simon Goldbaum.

The ship H. Bischoff has just sailed from London for this port with cement.

The city tax collector for June was $181,000, of which $75,000 has been disbursed. Marriage licenses were issued to John Menzies and Jennie Campbell; John Tyrell and Julia D. Luca.

In the case of J. W. Green vs. O. J. Staugh, the defendant, who is a resident of Los Angeles, has been ordered to pay the plaintiff certain stock and to Green was paid up.

Patterson Springs and family have returned from San Antonio, Tex., where they have been for some time. The climate was too warm for them.

John P. Young, managing editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, is visiting in this city.

Shirley Joe Nichols of Orange county arrived Saturday to see her mother.

Richard Gird and J. H. Lee of Chico are at the Brewster.

ORANGE COUNTY.

GOOD NEWS FROM DUNGAN, NOW WITH THE DETROITS.

Celebrity-planting in the Famous Post Leads New Westminster—Report of a Bicycle Stolen—News Notes and Personal.

SANTA ANA, July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) As a baseball player Sam Dungan's name is familiar to almost every lover of the national game between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The fact that Sam learned the first principles of the game here in Santa Ana, where his parents now live, and where he was for many years in his more youthful days, has been a playmate on the diamond, makes any mention of the great right-fielder now appreciated by Orange county people in particular, and California enthusiasts of the diamond in general.

In a recent issue of the Detroit Free Press there is a paragraph showing the Santa Ana boy is doing the best of work this year as usual. He is with the Detroit, and stands at the head of the team in batting average, while in base running there are but two others in the club who can come any ways near out-classing him.

But here is the paragraph that refers especially to Dungan:

"Individually, Dungan still leads the list, and he has averaged two hits a game so far, and is the run-getter of the team. His percentage has fallen off some from last month, but this was to be expected. It is to be noted, however, that the drop has taken place within the last ten games, in the eight games played with Toledo, and in Detroit. Before that time Sam's record was close to .470. Another thing—Dungan has failed to make a hit in but four of the fifty games in which he has played. A remarkable showing. He had two hits in each of ten games; three hits in each of twelve games, four hits in each of four games, and in Detroit he had three games. Sam, however, is not the longest hitter on the team, although he is the best. Gillen and Campau can claim the former honor, with Strouthers close up."

ORANGE COUNTY BREVITIES.
The farmers out in the famous peat lands near Westminster have begun collecting peat. The crop will be ready during the next month and months and shipped east to Kansas City, Chicago and other large markets. Last year the peat was only sold for $1.00 per year, old, brought the farmers of the peat lands an income of about $50,000. The coming year the product promises to be very profitable.

Fullerton Council No. 93, P.A.A., installed the following officers last Saturday evening at Fullerton: President, Dr. George C. Clark; vice-president, Dr. J. C. Clark; secretary, Dr. J. C. Clark; treasurer, A. McDermott; chaplain, Mrs. Adell Skinner; guide, Mrs. Lizzie Parker; observer, Mrs. Grace E. Ford; secretary, Mrs. J. C. Clark.

The Farmers' Institute in Santa Ana closed Saturday evening with a most interesting paper on "Injurious Insects" by Fred Rafferty gave much valuable information on the subject, and Rev. J. H. Cooper gave the audience a splendid idea of what "Home Reading" should be like. The institute was a most successful one in every way except in point of attendance.

A dozen or more of the Riverside wheelmen came down to Santa Ana today for a bicycle race. The wheelmen arrived here a little before 9 o'clock. They reported a most delightful run and the public roads in Orange county were in excellent condition. The day they returned by a circuitous route, feeling well paid for their pleasant run.

James McCadden, president of the Newport Wharf and Lumber Company, has just returned from a business visit to the Atlantic. He reports the business in the East as very much brighter than it was a year ago.

The funeral services of the late W. R. Cole were held this (Sunday) afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the deceased, under the auspices of the Fraternal Aid Association of Santa Ana, of which the deceased was a member.

Rev. C. E. Loop of Pomona occupied the Episcopal pulpit in Santa Ana today (Sunday). Rev. Mr. Burrows, the pastor, regularly in charge, preached at El Toro.

The Orange Post says that it is informed J. E. Hoy of Villa Park has brought suit against Thacker Bros. to recover $3000 in damages for the loss of a crop that was purchased by them.

F. L. Troxell of Santa Ana had a bicycle stolen from the Lacy House last Friday night. The wheel is a 94 patent and numbered 41,620.

The continuous warm days are resulting in sending many residents of Santa Ana and neighboring towns to the seashore and mountains.

Burglars broke into the Orangehorst schoolhouse a few nights ago and stole a quantity of library books valued at $100.

SOLDIERS' HOME.

The Record of a Fiscal Year Just Ended.

SOLDIERS' HOME, July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) With June 30 ended the fiscal year 1934-35 at this institution, and from the carefully prepared reports of the heads of the various departments the following facts and figures have been compiled, for which your correspondent acknowledges his obligations to Capt. Davis and Sergeant.

The aggregate membership of the home on June 30, 1935, was 1651, against 1297 the year before. The maximum membership actually present in the home at any time during the year just past was that of June 14, and was 1317, while on June 29 there were 389 members absent on furlough, the largest number at any time during the year.

The corresponding figures for the minimum during the year are 1055, July 8, 1894, and 218, August 4, 1894. The average membership for the year just past was 1505 against 1229 the year before.

The total number of veterans cared for during the year was 1922, and since the establishment of the home the total is 2084. The corresponding figures for the year ending June 30 were 61; since the establishment of the home, 309. This establishes a ratio of 3.17 to the 1000 of the year ending June 30.

Efforts have been made to care for all eligible applicants as far as practicable. During the entire year the home has been full and, at times, so overcrowded that it was necessary to discontinue admissions.

The total admissions for the year were 625; losses, 271; net gain, 354. Of the 1922 members cared for during the year the losses by war were as follows: Indian wars, 4; Mexican war, 113; civil war, 1795. Of these 1653 were in the volunteer army; 132 were in the regular army, and 12 in the National Guard.

Recorded disabilities are as follows: Lost an arm, 13; one leg, 18; other wounds, 395; blind, 20; insane, 4; other diseases, 1472. The total number of members of foreign born 799. The list of married is but 398, against 1524 single. Of those who can read and write there are 1813, and 100 who cannot read or write.

The table of States and Territories shows that every one in the Union is represented—that is, members were accredited to each at the time of their admission, as well as from each State and Territory. The membership represents 83 trades, professions and callings, including actors, agents, artists, lawyers, physicians, salesmen, teachers, clerks, laborers, farmers, miners, mechanics, etc.

The number of pensioners is 1113, to which are added 125 pensioners during the year 1934-35; an average pensioner month to each pensioner of $11.35. The total general expense of the home during the year was $191,704.15, being a cost per capita of $11.35 per month, or $30 per year, and an average cost for table of 15.18 cents per day per man.

The home expenses were paid $1,091,971.47. The home has a net income of $1,091,971.47. The home has a net income of $1,091,971.47. The home has a net income of $1,091,971.47.

The following is a summary of the business done at the home postoffice: Letters sent, 1,577; newspapers mailed, 10,430; received, 46,797; registered letters mailed, 271; received, 488. Cash received for postage, $1,091,971.47. The home has a net income of $1,091,971.47.

In maintaining discipline 437 offenses were booked against 245 members. Of these 124 were of the regular army, and 123 of the National Guard. The offenses were classified as "minor offenses," such as absent without leave, drunk and disorderly, and the like. Sixteen hundred and seventy-two offenses were committed no offense during the year.

During the year there have been constructed fire protection plant, including a pumping station, and a pump throwing 150,000 gallons per day, and water mains and hydrants near the building. It is believed that a sufficient fire protection is now provided.

A governor's residence has been built and a telephone system has been installed.

OTHER HOME NOTES.
The count of membership this morning showed 1270 present; 388 absent on furlough; total 1658.

There have been no deaths for July 1935. The total to date since January 1 is 33.

The library acknowledges receipt of magazines during the week from "Burghs," Los Angeles, and of a lot of papers from Dr. W. L. Edgar, U.S.A., Los Angeles.

In an altercation in Co. A Saturday evening Henry Wilson drew his pistol and attempted to shoot John H. Hoyer who escaped with a hole in his coat only. The offender was taken into custody and held in the Santa Monica jail, where he will answer the charge of assault with intent to murder.

The Oriole Banjo and Guitar Club of Los Angeles composed of the following members, gave a delightful variety entertainment at the home last week: Miss Pearl E. Gleason, the Masters Joe and Miss Gladys Reese, John H. Hoyer, Nellie Lockwood, Mabel Kallcock, Dolie Jones and little Rosebud Andrews.

Interest in the Swimming Races—Other Local Notes.
SANTA MONICA, July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) Seven thousand people gathered in and about the North Beach bath-house here this afternoon for the swimming races arranged for 2:30. The Collis had come up from the wharf, and anchored off shore to act as judges' boat, and much interest was shown in the contest. The swimmers were running rather lively, and the surface was that of a choppy sea, but the contestants paid little heed to conditions. Eleven men were expected to start, but only nine got away when the pistol was shot. The Collis fired a salute as soon as the swimmers were off, and another when the first one rounded the buoy, giving each man an additional notice with the whistle as he rounded the stake. The following in the order of time and the men who finished: Arthur Splitstoeser, 16m. 35s.; William Rapp, 18m. 40s.; Rice, 18m. 55s.; J. R. Sheekley, 19m. 20s.; H. Jordan, 20m. 35s.; Hubbard, 20m. 40s.; Ross, 21m. 31s.; John E. Young, 21m. 54s. The course was half a mile. The Southern Pacific gave a medal to the winner, and a medal of honor to the best swimmer. The house management goes to the winner of two successive heats, the second heat of which will be contested next Sunday. This has been one of the finest summer days of the season, and, with the possible exception of the Fourth, has seen the greatest number of visitors. The water race was a chief feature of interest, but the band concert also had a great audience, and beach and surf were crowded with people all during the heat of the day.

The Southern Pacific announces a slight change of time in its service here, which may, however, be of great interest to get a few people left tomorrow morning. The first train to Los Angeles will hereafter leave the depot here at 7:30 instead of 7:35 as heretofore. This will accommodate many summer residents who wish to reach their up-town offices not later than 8 o'clock of the day.

Glenwood Coal-stoves. Have you seen them? There are no stoves on the market that approach them. If you want a cookstove that will give you perfect satisfaction in every respect, get a "Glenwood." You will see at a glance a dozen signs of superiority. If you call on them, they are at the W. C. Curry Co., No. 123 to 125 North Spring street. Call and see them.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

BRONCHO CHARLEY AGAIN ON THE WARPATH.

The Thickness of the Negro's Skull Is All That Saved His Life—High Standing of Company C, Ninth Regiment—Personal Notes.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 14.—(Regular Correspondence.) The traditional hardness of a darkey's cranium was well illustrated in the experience of "Broncho Charley" last night. Charley is a negro of colossal size and vicious temper, and when not confined in the County Jail, is hunting for more trouble that will land him there again. Early last evening he was ejected from the Magnolia saloon. About 9:30 o'clock he returned, and drawing a knife, started for the bartender, Peter Beam. The latter drew his revolver. The weapon snapped, the second shot went wild, but the third struck Charley on top of the head, glanced upward and went into Third street through double glass doors. He shot it did not even stir the negro. He took a hasty departure, however. Both men were arrested, but Beam was released on $500 bail by Justice Soule.

Maj. McKelvey, inspecting officer of the Ninth Regiment, N. G. C., has made his report on the company. The company is highly rated over being rated 4.9 out of a possible standard of 5. This report places the organization in the front rank for efficiency and discipline.

The Southern Pacific and the motor roads change time Monday. Trains for Los Angeles will leave the Motor depot at 8:05 and 10:40 a.m.; 2:35 and 4:40 p.m. The running time of the Ocean express, the fastest train in Southern California, will remain as at present. The train heretofore leaving at 11:45 a.m. will leave at 10:40, and the 4:25 p.m. will be changed to 4:40. The most noticeable improvement on the present time-card, for it will give visitors from Los Angeles and way stations a fast train home.

The day of progress has arrived in this community, and the park improvement is the natural sequence of the new water and light works and the race-track.

VENTURA BREVITIES.
Another indication of progress is found in the proposed organization of bean-growers, who are engaged in perfecting a new variety of bean. The bean in its membership 80 per cent of the crop.

Added to this is the talk of forming a company to build a new fruit cannery, which is becoming a necessity.

The 8-year-old daughter of State Senator George S. Cook of Montalvo, was kicked in the head by a horse and had her skull fractured. The child was brought to Ventura and Dr. Bard performed the operation of trepanning. Senator Smith was telegraphed for and reached here in the early morning. The child is resting easily, but is not yet out of danger.

Mrs. Myrtle Lloyd, daughter of the Hon. E. B. Sheppard, was thrown from a buggy last night and seriously injured about the face and head. She is resting easily today, and no serious results are feared.

There were four runaway accidents this week, fortunately unattended with fatalities.

Friday at the residence of her son, J. Rodriguez, died Juana Tico de Rodriguez, aged 71 years. Mrs. Rodriguez was born in Santa Barbara in 1834 and had lived contentedly in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties up to the time of her death. Her father was one of the best-known men in Southern California in the early days, coming direct from Spain to this coast eighty or more years ago.

Mrs. Rodriguez's husband was killed in the historic raid against the Lynche Brothers, which was the beginning of the end of the town of Montecito now stands. This raid and the killing of Rodriguez, who was a man of wealth and position, was the beginning of a paper contributed by Gen. W. T. Sherman in the Overland Monthly some years ago.

Mrs. Rodriguez was buried from the residence of her son on Saturday, friends and relatives coming from all over Southern California to do honor to her memory.

Her only surviving son, J. Y. Rodriguez, was twice under-sheriff of this county, and is now serving a term as County Jailor under Sheriff Chandeloff.

PERSONALS.
Miss Susie B. Hamer of this city has accepted a position in Meyberg's Ceramic Studio, Los Angeles. Miss Hamer enjoyed the reputation of being the finest decorative artist in Ventura County, and her many friends are pleased to learn of her being so pleasantly employed.

Mrs. John Vignes and daughter, Minnie, of Los Angeles, are visiting the family of Captain Elwell.

Robert Bonestell is over from Rose's San Pedro Rancho looking up farming implements.

The Hotel Rose will not change hands, as has been announced.

DEATH RECORD.
HASSON in this city, at 4 p.m., Saturday afternoon, the 13th inst., Charles N. Hasson, aged 56 years, died at his home, 1011 and 1013 South Spring street, this (Monday) afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral services will take place from the residence of the deceased

He opened a store, all nicely stocked. With fixtures most complete and grand. But found his wheels of trade were blocked. By other dealers close at hand.

Miss Hattie Livengood left for the north yesterday on the steamer Coma. After a brief stay in San Francisco she will proceed to Seattle, where she will remain some time with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Klobner.

COUNCIL FORECAST.

Some Account of What Will Take Place Today.

The Board of Public Works will recommend to the Council this morning the acceptance of the bid of the Union Paving Company for the paving of Main street from Ninth to Thirty-seventh, involving an expenditure of over $25,000.

The report of the Investigating Committee in the case of Street Superintendent Howard will be made to the Council, but the committee will cover up the inadequacy of their labors by saying that they have further time for their investigation, and they will also ask of the Council that the City Attorney be instructed to assist them in their work.

The resignation of Police Commissioner Guy Barham will be presented to the Council. The Council may, in deference to the committee, decline to accept it, but there is small doubt that in the end, Mr. Barham will insist on being relieved from the duties of his position. Commissioner Coughlin continues to declare that his resignation will be forthcoming on the 1st of August.

The customary recommendations will be made to the Council from the Sewer, Supply and Finance committees.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

AN OIL EXCHANGE.

ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE TO ESTABLISH ONE.

The Various Interests to be Consolidated—Wider Market to be Sought—Prices to be Fixed—Pipe Lines and Storage Capacity.

An oil exchange will soon be established in Los Angeles. Its objects are various and beneficial to our city. It will enhance the value of petroleum, enlarge the industry, increase manufacturing, employ more labor, attract more capital and add immensely to the growth and wealth of the community. The oil interests will be consolidated, and all who are engaged in the business will be better remunerated for their time and labor than heretofore.

The industry has been disorganized and the markets demoralized for a long time and the business has "touched bottom." A revolution has taken place and the whole oil-producing community has come together and now constitutes a unit as to an object and an association. The object is a wider market and established prices, and the association is the Los Angeles Crude Oil Exchange. It is now too late to make any long or short contracts for fuel oil. The producers are opening their eyes to the new situation. The opportunity has gone glimmering to the consumers, and no speculators or investors have seen the good thing there has been in buying up the product. There will be no more 40-cent oil in the Los Angeles field. The two pipe-lines having storage for 50,000 barrels of oil at reasonable rates, which will relieve the congested state of the tanks on the hills. Certificates will be issued which are only warehouse receipts, and will be accepted as collateral at the banks should any one want to negotiate loans of money.

Just what will be the rebound from the low-water mark no one can tell, but it will be near the dollar line. Whatever this price may be for forty-two gallons of oil loose, there can be no mistake in saying that it will be the cheapest fuel in California. At $1 per barrel it is equivalent to good steam-making coal—none of your lignite—at $3.50 per ton. Should this all appear to a city like ours? We are not very far from iron ore, or timber or white sand, or native tin, or precious quartz. It is among the improbabilities that Los Angeles may become a great manufacturing city. It was the proximity of coal, iron and limestone that made Pittsburgh great among the manufacturing cities of the country. How handsomely an abundance of cheap fuel would supplement our fruits, grain and precious metal!

All things come to him who waits. California has waited patiently for half a century for cheap fuel. It has come in an unlooked-for material. Coal was the thing sought for and much money and time have been spent delving in the hills and mountains of California for black diamonds. But it seems that the carboniferous series are not found here. This part of the world was not finished in time to grow forests and vegetable matter for coal or else it was all burned in the process of making, and the result is petroleum.

But what is the outlook for our earth oil's lasting qualities? We have been producing petroleum for twenty-five years, amounting at the time of the last census to about one thousand barrels per day. Since this time the production has been more than doubled in the Los Angeles field. It is not an overestimate to say that the product of California at present is 3500 barrels daily, or 1,000,000 barrels annually. This is a great gain in five years. The whole of this output is practically from Southern California; in fact, from the fields in and near Los Angeles. Our city is the logical center of the important and growing industry. This is the distributing point, and the proper location for tank storage, refineries and the oil exchange.

Now, as to the staying qualities of the wells. The facts are most encouraging. There never was a territory so large as ours where the wells are located so closely together. The oil field is literally honey-combed. Yet none of the wells have failed entirely, and the deeper wells have scarcely slackened their flow after the "head" has been pumped out. No well has yet been bored entirely through the coarse, oil-bearing sandrock stratum. The thickness of this rock has yet to be ascertained. Its richness we are assured of, since when we once know its thickness we can calculate with some sort of certainty how much oil a city lot will produce. The field is about 800 feet wide and 2500 feet long, as developed. The north and south sides are fairly well defined. Experienced oil-drillers touch these limits very gingerly. The grounds will not be invaded, nor the homes disturbed by the derrick and engine on these sides of the oil break. But on the east and west sides of the exploited field the march of the derrick will only be stopped by the power and majesty of the law. Will it be invoked for this purpose is a question to be settled by the legislative authority of the city. Underground tankage is impracticable and an embargo upon the industry. It would accomplish no good end, and would not prevent a conflagration. If one could be started with the full tanks above ground the same thing could be done with full tanks underground. The danger of fire is minimized by the character of the oil. It is as difficult to set on fire as a pile of stone coal. It must first be heated, sprayed or volatilized before it can be burned readily. It has a fire test and will not burn up at the touch of a blazing taper. A stroke of lightning would hardly set a tank of oil on fire.

DERRICK.

Rabbits.

There they hung, a whole row of rabbits, big, furry jacks with huge ears, and pretty little cottontails hanging by their necks with their forepaws plausibly crossed. "We don't sell many this time of year," said the butcher, "though they taste just as good as in winter, when we sell them in hundreds. The hunters never go after them much during the breeding season, yet there's nothing to forbid. These rabbits multiply so fast it isn't necessary to protect them by game laws."

"Do you see that tame rabbit over there? It is of the same stock as that dreaded pest, the Australian rabbit. But the Australian rabbit is a very different creature now. Since its introduction it has changed and developed to fit the country. No, I never sell any of those tame rabbits to white people for eating, but Chinamen buy them from me very often."

JESTER IS NOT JESTING.

He Caused J. D. Simmons's Arrest for Embezzlement.

The complaint against J. D. Simmons, who was arrested Saturday evening for embezzlement was sworn to by M. H. Jester. Simmons is accused of appropriating money which he collected for Jester to his own use. The amount is only about $44. Jester sent Simmons to Pomona to collect it for him. The latter did so, but spent part of it. He claims, however, that Jester owed him his commission and for three weeks' board, and that he was willing to pay Jester the difference, but the latter insisted that he should first turn over the entire amount collected, and Jester would then pay Simmons what he owed him. Jester is a lather by trade, and Simmons is put down in the city directory as an artist, but he has worked as a barber. Simmons expects to regain his liberty today.
